ENCOURAGING FRESH PERSPECTIVES: A COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

We are incredibly proud of the diversity of our pupils' and want to ensure that our workforce is similarly representative, so that our pupils can be inspired by a full variety of voices and perspectives.

So, we're taking steps to further improve our commitment to diversity and inclusion by:

- Prefacing formal in-person interviews for online interviewing at the initial stages of selection, so that we can widen our pool of applicants and see more candidates than ever before.
- Investing in a leading teacher training programme to enable us to nurture talent more effectively.

But this is just the start of the journey and we are continually looking at how we work to improve the process.

OUR FUTURE

At Habs, we are constantly looking for opportunities to reach new heights in providing for our pupils' changing needs. The school is committed to providing an outstanding education.

We also launched an exciting 10-year strategy together with Habs Girls, our sibling school. This is available to read here: Who We Are and What We Stand For

We are currently constructing a state-of-the-art academic hub in the Senior School. It will offer innovative accommodation for English, Maths, Modern Languages, Economics and Theology and Philosophy, as well as a sensational new Drama Studio.

The next exciting phase of development on campus will be bringing our Pre-Prep School, which is currently based in St Albans, to the Elstree site, whilst maintaining its separate private space. Planning permission has been approved to construct a bespoke, state-of-the-art, eco-friendly Pre-Prep building. The plans seek to respect and respond to the environment and have been developed from the concept of 'learn, nurture, grow'.

Our plans do not stop here. The evolution of Habs is a continuing journey to excellence.

THE COMPUTING AND IT DEPARTMENT

This is an exciting time to join the Computing and Information Technology department at Haberdashers', as we experience a rapid period of growth and development. Numbers in the sixth form have grown consistently, with 2 sets in both year groups at A level and 80 boys studying the subject to GCSE in both Y10 and Y11. There are a further 113 boys opting to study the subject in Y9.

The challenging, practical and stimulating curriculum enables boys to take responsibility for their own learning. A focus on individual and collaborative creativity and innovation benefits from the great support from external companies like Microsoft and Intel, old boys now thriving in technology careers, and the networking with other leading academic schools. Our boys love the wide range of internal and external competitions through which they can develop their passion for the subject.

All boys follow the wide-ranging curriculum to develop digital intelligence, wisdom and literacy, including the creation of multimedia, practical computing and competence using Microsoft 365 tools to support access to the whole curriculum.

The school's Computing Society is flourishing with over 130 boys engaged in a wide range of activities from various levels of programming and machine learning to the virtual reality society and the preparation for internal and external competitions. Boys hold important leadership roles within the Computing Society to make the exciting challenge of developing the passions and interests of so many boys practically possible.

The department is friendly, maintaining high standards of scholarship and inspiration through a readiness for discussion and innovation.

Results

The department has a long-established reputation for producing good results at both A level and GCSE and boys regularly study Computer Science at leading universities including Oxbridge and Imperial College. We follow the CAIE Specification which is assessed through two written examination papers at GCSE and four papers at A level of which paper 4 is taken on a computer.

Results in public examinations are very strong. Over the last eight years 91% of GCSE grades have been at A* or A and 83% of A Level candidates achieved an A or B. The curriculum throughout KS3, Prep and Pre-Prep is broadly based upon National Curriculum requirements.

Accommodation

The school has invested heavily in technology in recent years and there are currently 5 whole school ICT Labs in addition to a number of smaller rooms as well as a BYOD policy. All teaching staff are provided with school laptops and further access to electronic resources is provided by banks of wireless laptops available in every building including the Pre-Prep and Prep Schools. Dedicated computer rooms are available in MFL, Music, DT, with a sixth form suite in Geography, Economics and English.
